

Helicopter Trip to Everest Base Camp

Introduction

Everybody has heard of the world's highest mountain and that is the reason why the Everest base camp trek is so popular. If you do not have enough time to trek up to Everest base camp, or physically unable, those people can explore Everest mountain region by helicopter. Helicopter Trip to Everest Base Camp provides you an opportunity to view number of stunning attractions, not least of these is being able to say you have visited the highest mountain in the world. The helicopter gets you right into the high altitude heart of the high Himalaya. Specially, it is a day trip. Early in the morning depart from Kathmandu airport through eastwards Himalayan range, land at Lukla airport, after short rest further fly towards Everest providing dimensional vision of the mountains whose nearness would be the prime attraction of this flight. The massive Everest hulk is the dominating feature here, surrounded by other mighty mountains in their own rights. Once again, the helicopter lands at Thyangboche, and we visit the Monastery. The heli trip gives you an opportunity to explore famous places, Namache bazaar and Khumjung village. The serenity and peace of its neighborhood and surroundings will give you an impression of a harmonious blend of people and places.

Trip Facts

Trip Grade:	Easy
Transportation	Helicopter